

Down the hedgerow

Take an imaginary walk down a country lane. Remember where the robin was, find its partner, then see who can spot a blackberry pair.

Game of pairs · Ages 4+ · Players 2–4

What you'll need

One set of 16 cut-out cards. A grown-up can help with the scissors. Print on A4 at actual size (100%).

How to play

1. Shuffle the cards and lay them face down in two winding rows. This is your lane.
2. Take turns turning over two cards. Keep a matching pair. If they differ, give everyone a moment to look before turning them back.
3. Play until the lane is empty. Lay your pairs end to end and tell the others what you spotted on your walk.

Give it a twist

Make it a team walk. Agree on one thing to look for, such as the robin. Each player turns over one card at a time and the group helps remember where its partner is.

You're welcome to print copies for your household or a group you teach. To pass a game on, share the link to its page. Please get in touch before reselling copies or republishing the files.

edubo

Cut-out cards

Down the hedgerow

Print on A4 at actual size (100%).

